

FALL 2017
SPW 6806
INTRODUCTION TO HISPANIC GRADUATE STUDIES
T 5:00-7:45 pm Cooper Hall 466

Dr. Pablo Brescia

(not really)

This course serves as a gateway to the Spanish Graduate Program. As such, it will focus on developing tools for successful graduate work, including but not limited to the following topics: speaking, reading and writing at the graduate level; textual analysis; research tools and methods and bibliographical resources; academic forms of reading and writing; the Spanish MA. Students will engage in diverse learning styles, such as concrete experience, reflective observation, abstract conceptualization and active experimentation. At the end of the course students should be able to: (1) understand the nature of literary and cultural analysis and be aware of issues of expression and style in the Spanish language; (2) be cognizant of research resources and bibliographies and databases; and (3) express, in academic written and oral form, their ideas about class content.

Readings, assignments and class lectures in Spanish.

Questions? Dr. Pablo Brescia pbrescia@usf.edu